

The band travel north to Newcastle for the start of their tour. Their bass player, Duane, gets terrible pains in his stomach. They take him to hospital and the doctor says he must have an operation that day.

F. Imagine the conversation at the hospital between Danny, Duane and the doctor. Write it out like the conversation on page 1.

G. Imagine the conversation Danny has with the other members of the band after he comes back from the hospital. Write it out like the conversation on page 1.

H. Make a list of people Danny might call on the phone after Duane's admittance to hospital. Explain why he makes each call.

- I. The band decide they must go on stage with no bass player. Because of the story of Duane's illness, they get a great deal of coverage in the press. The report below has factual mistakes as well as spelling and punctuation errors. Write the report, correcting any mistakes.

SUCCESS AFTER DISASTER

A band of 4 boys and a girl are visiting Newcastle for the first time. But an accident has meant that the lead guitarist, Duane Andrew, is in hospitle with a broken leg. She is likely to stay their for severle days.

The band decided they should still play even though they were one person short. 'The show must go on,' Danny Roberts told our reporter. 'We won't disappoint our fans.'

The concert was a grate success. When the band left in their coach, there were crowds of people cheering them on.